LUCY E. DEVERS.
July 2-3m

From the Georgetown Times.

Many of our older home readers will remember "Pete; the talking crow," that lived and flourished in this place some thirty-five years ago. Pete was one of the "institutions" of the town, but was cut off in the prime of his glory by a luckless shot from a young man who had not formed his acquaintance. The young people among us who have frequently heard of this remarkable bird will doubtless read with interest of his life and adventures, as furnished by his biographer, Gen. T. C. Flournoy, originally published fifteen years ago, which we now reproduce.

Life and Adventures of Pete.

Georgetown, Kentucky, is certainly the most remarkable place in the world for birds. Who has not heard of Pete?—the illustrious crow which was raised and owned by Mr. John Adams, of this town? "Pete"—that everybody admired? This crow—without having anything done to his tongue, and with no other advantage, than that of being brought up in a hatter's shop, among the boys and journeymen, could undoubtedly talk better than any parrot in the world ever talked.

But to begin with the history. Pete "in his youth" was once taken to the Bourbon Bridge, on a fishing party, where he got some very good minnows to eat, and always afterwards, to the day of his death, he was a devoted fisherman. The moment Pete saw the fishing poles brought out, he was as keen as a briar to go, and go he would; and he would help himself to the very first fish that was caught, big or little. If you scolded at him or took up a switch and threatened to whip him, he was off. He would fly straight to his master's house in Georgetown, where he knew he had friends, and where he was sure to be fed like a gentleman. Mr. Adams has feelingly told me, "that if he had but one piece of bread in the world, he would have halved it with Pete."

Among the earliest buildings of Pete's genius was his fondness for racing. He was taken to one or two races at first; but after that he was sure to attend as a volunteer; until at length, becoming much excited on the field, he mounted the stand, and in a fit of inspiration, he gave the word "go," to the horses, and this was the first word ever spoken by Pete. This speech met the most unbounded applause—the beating of Henry by Eclipse was a fool to it. From that moment Pete was a made man. He was everywhere acknowledged as principal manager of the turf—Pete knew everybody and everybody knew Pete. He was constantly seen in the thickest of the crowd—chief cook and bottle washer. He did not always know when to give the word go, but he knew how to do it, as well as Uncle Ned or Captain Burbridge, himself.

It should be remembered to the credit of Pete, that he was the staunch advocate of temperance—many a bottle of new whisky has Pete broken; and many a quarrel has he had with Fely for doing it. And here it is proper to notice a charge which has been brought against Pete—it has been said, that Pete was in the habit of drinking the whisky, by way of concealing the theft; upon the same principle, that a house is often burned down, after it has been robbed in order to prevent discovery. But I do not believe a word of it. I consider the whole story, whether written or spoken, as a base slander upon Pete's reputation. What! Pete drink whisky? Good new whisky? The thing is impossible. Pete was possessed of too much self-respect. He was always as sober as a judge. And besides, I do not believe that the silliest crow that ever croaked would be stupid enough to taste one drop of whisky, although it might roll in oceans at his feet. Had Pete been called on to drink, he would have risen on tiptoe, and with his accustomed eloquence, he would have replied: "No, gentlemen, no. Not one drop of whisky will I drink. It is whisky and that alone, which fills the poor-house and penitentiary throughout christendom, and from one extremity of the earth to the other." We are informed by Mr. Adams and two other gentlemen, that upon one occasion, a stupid wagoner, who had about a quart of new whisky in him, at the time, and whose name happened to be Bill, was terribly alarmed by Pete. The fellow, it seems, was driving his team through the streets of Georgetown, when Pete took a seat upon the top of his wagon, and began to call out "Bill, oh, Bill, oh, Bill!" The fellow looked up, and without waiting for an explanation from Pete, he rolled off in the mud, flat on his back.

The hero of our story had a perfect contempt for his wild brethren. He evidently avoided them, and upon one occasion, having been thrown into company with some of them at a hog killing, which he was very fond of attending, Pete actually retired to the inside of Mr. Ollitt's porch, to avoid what he considered bad company—they could not talk, they were no company for Pete.

I have been told that Pete is charged with being a mongrel. Now, I take upon myself, as an ornithologist, and as the biographer of Pete, to say that the thing is false, out and out; that Pete was as genuine a crow as ever was seen; that he had not one drop of parrot blood in him; that he was as much superior to a parrot as a mocking-bird is to a sparrow; as Hygieion to a Satyr.

As a distinguished trait in the character of Pete, it deserves to be mentioned that he had not the slightest aversion to gunpowder. On the contrary, he was particularly fond of military tactics; and made it a point to attend all the musters in the neighborhood of Georgetown. Musters and races were his favorite pastimes—in a word, he was a Kentuckian—and to all intent and purposes, the very pink of chivalry.

It has long been doubted, whether Mr. Parke was greatest as a speaker or writer? But there is no such doubt in relation to Pete—oratory was unquestionably his strong suit; touch him on that, and he was always at home. He could say good morning, with perfect distinctness; and this was his favorite salutation, he would often use it forty times a day, and at all hours of the day. Mr. Ford informs me, that he met Pete one morning, at market, and that he heard him say "good, rosy morning," as plain as he ever heard anything in his life. But his longest and best speech is this: "oh, Bill, tell George Sawyer to come here." This speech was pronounced with the utmost distinctness, twenty times a day, on an average, and has been witnessed by hundreds and perhaps thousands, with the highest admiration. Gentlemen have been known to visit Georgetown from a hundred miles, expressly to witness the powers of Pete's eloquence.

As the writer of history, bound by all the sanctions of truth, I am compelled to say that Pete's morality was somewhat questionable. He has been heard to swear repeatedly, and upon one occasion (doubtless without reflection) he went so far as to abuse a lady in her own house. Pete, it seems, was on a visit, and in the course of the evening, he amused himself by pulling out the feathers of a bat which lay upon the bed, in one of the chambers. Pete was at length detected in the very act, or as a lawyer would say, "he was taken with the manor." The lady informed him that she considered him an intruder, and that she would have him put out of her house. Pete's Irish was instantly up—he told the lady to her face—"curse your soul. I'll tell George Sawyer." The lady of course retired; she could not possibly stand such language as this, and Pete strutted through the house for some time, and did exactly as he pleased. Who but Pete. As if he said—

"Upon my life, I am a lord indeed! And not a tinker, nor Christopher Sly."

Now, this I admit, was all wrong and perfectly inexcusable; but then I would like to know what crow in creation, or man either, is without a fault? and, besides, it should be known to posterity, that Pete's general character was good, and in such assemblage of perfections it will not be a matter of wonder, if some alloy of frailty was intermingled. My deliberate opinion is, that the darkest shade of his character was a tendency to profane swearing, when he considered himself insulted. Take that blot from his escutcheon, and it will shine like the morning star.

Pete lived to the age of about three years, and was clearly progressive up to the moment of his death, in his knowledge and accomplishments as a scholar and a gentleman. His lamented death took place just twenty years ago, in the ever memorable year 1832; that year so fatal to genius. The same year in which more great souls departed, than in any other two years, in all the annals of history—Mackintosh, Goethe, Crabbe, Tenterton, Carroll, Sampte, Walter Scott and Pete.

history was unfortunately shot by a nephew of Mr. Ben. Smith, of Edge Hill, a stranger who knew nothing of the standing and character of Pete. He fell in the suburbs of Georgetown, on the branch of the Royal Spring, near Mr. Crawford's house. Upon the melancholy news of his demise, it was at once determined to bury him with the highest respect. His remains were accordingly placed in a handsome coffin and interred in classic ground, near the college edifice; the bell was regularly tolled. The obsequies were attended by a large procession of boys; many a wet cheek was seen at the burial, and we are told that the children of Mr. Adams were not the only ones that shed tears.

How easily might his life have been saved, if only moderate caution had been observed by the citizens of Georgetown. Still, it was not the want of regard, but the excess of it, that was fatal in this instance. Nobody ever dreamed that he would be shot through a mistake. Never did the advantage of stars and garters and ribbons strike me so forcibly, before; for the want of some such badge of distinctions a crow of genius lost his life.

The author of this sketch never saw Pete but once; he was then on the top of Mr. Geo. Brown's house, in Georgetown. The street below was full of gentlemen on horseback, and Pete supposing it to be a race, was engaged in giving the word "go." It was court day, but nobody had informed him of the fact; so he was evidently acting under a mistake at the time.

Of one thing the public may be assured, that no fact stated has been exaggerated, in the slightest degree—that the whole of his memoir, no single incident is given, but upon the highest authority. The truth is, that most of the facts contained in this history, have been actually sworn to. Mike Allgaier, upon telling the story in New Orleans, and finding he was not believed, went before a justice of the peace and solemnly swore to every word he had stated. After all the pains I have taken, there is very little doubt that the fate of Homer has been that of Pete, and that many of his best speeches have been lost to the world forever.

We have also had a robin which crowed very finely indeed, as much like a bantam as you could possibly imagine. He was here two seasons. Sometime in the spring of his first visit, he had the misfortune to lose a leg, which affected his spirits very much, and suspended his crowing for about two months. After that he was again heard to crow as usual, throughout the fall. During winter he was absent; probably on a visit to the South. The next spring he returned to us again, the very same one-legged robin red-breast, and crowed as finely as ever. Whether he is now dead, or has only changed his residence, is quite uncertain. All we know is, that we have not had the pleasure of seeing his robinship for about two years. Wherever he may be, we regard him, if living, as our bird, and will crow him against any chicken or old dove in the world for any amount. But I am likely to forget the apothegm of my old friend, Colonel Doherty, adopted from Falstaff, I believe—that "brevity is the soul of wit," and so I close.

Blewett, the People's Candidate is Out.

I announce myself a candidate to represent this the Sixth Congressional District in the next Congress.

MY CREED.

The late war was either right or wrong. It right in part, right in all; if wrong in part, wrong in all. Therefore all things done to sustain it, if right, should be faithfully executed. If wrong, consequently unconstitutional, everything done ought, and by rights should be repudiated.

Taxation, now as in the days of our fathers, without representation, is a just cause of complaint.

We believe that this government was instituted by white men for white men.

We believe that all white men are born free and equal.

We are opposed to negro suffrage.

We are opposed to negro bureaus.

We are opposed to all military governments.

We believe in equal rights to all white men exclusive privilege to none.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Mr. J. M. Dill purchased a splendid mare from Milton Rankin, last week, for which he paid $250.

Prof. Hopkins is teaching a large and popular singing school in this place. Everybody should learn to sing.

On the 8th of this month John M. Starnap was thrown from his horse and his shoulder and arm broken.

Mr. M. D. Whitaker left at our office some timothy grass, which is 7 feet 3 inches long. We consider this an unusual length.

Mrs. Wm. T. Magee, will accept our thanks, for the fine blackberries laid on our table. They were the finest we have ever seen.

On Friday night last, the grocery store of Coppage and Ledge, on Main street, was robbed of some 50 pounds of bacon and considerable flour.

Mr. J. S. Whaley, of Harrison county, has three excellent cows, which have five steer calves. They look well and are doing well. Who can make a better showing.

D. A. Givens says: his accounts are now due, or rather past due and that he takes no pleasure in dining his patrons. All persons in arrears will therefore call and liquidate their indebtedness without delay, as the money is needed and must be forthcoming.

The Democracy of Fendleton will hold a grand mass meeting at Falmouth next Thursday. All the great guns of the party will be in attendance; with a band of music. Everybody is invited, especially the people of Harrison.

Our enterprising fellow-citizen Cyrus Cook, is just on the eve of building a new ware house, near his distillery in this city, which when finished, will be 80 feet deep, 40 feet wide, and 4 stories high. So we go—and "whisky in the jug."

There will be a grand picnic given in Uncle Joe Shawhan's woods next Saturday. Everybody is invited and expected to come and bring their baskets, as a good time is anticipated. Good music will be in attendance.

Maginley's & Carroll's great Legitimate circus will give two grand exhibitions in this city on Wednesday, August 5, 1868. This Circus is spoken of by the press as one of the best organized companies now traveling. Let everybody turn out.

We are pleased to announce that the health of Bishop Forsythe is improving. His daughter, Mrs. Seaton, is on a visit at her father's house with her sweet, little infant. We hope she may find her visit among her old friend as agreeable as she would desire it should be.

Last Monday, our city was visited by one of the best circuses that has ever passed through Kentucky. The management, Messrs. Hemmings, Cooper & Whitby, are all gentlemen, and they give general satisfaction wherever they go. If Kentuckians desire to see a good show go and see the one from Philadelphia.

Mr. J. J. Good, on Main Street, Gunsmith & Co., is the agent of Singers Sewing Machine. It is the best machine in Kentucky or the world. There are more of these machines used than any other that are manufactured, as the statistics show that there are five thousand more sold annually than any other. Call and examine this machine in comparison with others and you will have no other.

BIO SHEEP.—Mr. J. W. Smith, of Bourbon, has purchased a weather from the wife of Robt. Scott, of this county, which weighs 300 pounds. He gave her $30 to be received on the 25th of next December. For each additional 25 pounds he is to pay $5 extra. This sheep will be presented to Mr. O. A. Gilman. It is the largest weather in the world, and a premium of $5 will be given to any man who has a better one.

A New York company, is about building a Saw-mill eight miles below Falmouth, which when finished will cost one hundred thousand dollars.

We learn that Berry's Station has taken a new move, and is placing itself on the list for improvements. Messrs. Johnson & Marks, of that place, have just finished a merchants flouring mill, with two run of stone, with which they furnish the people of that section in good flour. Their machinery is all new and splendid. C. F. Walter, an experienced mill-right, is the builder. We are pleased to know that our friends in that place, are moving up.

We are informed that Festus Reneker, son of Harry Reneker, cut a garter snake in two last week, which contained eighty young ones. Don't talk to us about your Triune monsters again, with this number of snakes in view. Persons in search of the "delirious triangles," should apply to our friend Festus, who will furnish a good supply very cheap, for exhibitions of this kind, in the boots.

A RADICAL POW WOW.—On next Saturday, August 1st, 1868, the Republicans will hold a grand love-feast at Falmouth. Col. Baker, Gen. Croxton and Ira Root, Esq., will address the meeting. The officers of the late 7th Kentucky cavalry, will hold a meeting on that day to select a place for the purpose of holding a reunion of the regiment. Everybody is respectfully invited to attend. A good brass and string band will be in attendance, and plenty to eat.

The New Catholic Church.—We have heard it intimated by responsible persons, that it was their intention to make quite a liberal donation to the Catholic Church in this place, for the purpose of enabling the people of that persuasion to erect a suitable house to worship in. We are requested to say, to those citizens, who design to contribute means for that purpose, that the time is already at hand when the "maternal aid" will be most welcome. Father Brantz will be in Cynthiana soon, and will receive the donations.

What I am going to say about the fair sex of Cynthiana and vicinity, will surprise, if not startle you. It is a pernicious evil, and every well wisher of the ladies should exert himself to try and induce them to discontinue this hateful, and hurtful and nasty practice as chewing tobacco.

I know that some of my sex will not thank me for exposing this filthy habit; but inasmuch as it is such a growing evil to the rising generation, that I have been induced to call your attention to the same, hoping thereby that you may lend your influence to mitigate the evil.

What would you say if I were to tell you that there are little girls not more than ten years of age, using tobacco and snuff, in this community? Such is the fact. They learn this filthy habit from their mothers and elder sisters; some of whom chew from a quarter to a half pound every week of their existence. Can't some method be devised, whereby good can come out of evil? Would it not be well to get up an anti-chewing tobacco society, in Cynthiana?

Yours, MOLLIE.

Our young and energetic friend Frank Curl, is still engaged in the laudable business of house building, and can finish a job as quickly and as neatly as any carpenter in Cynthiana.

By the way, we know a good one on Frank, which we must be excused for publishing.

When Gen. Morgan started with his brigade into Kentucky, and made that famous raid into Ohio, by orders from the war department, the 9th regiment of cavalry commanded by Col. Breckinridge, of Lexington, was not permitted to accompany the General. The regiment, almost to a man, was very much chagrined, that they should be held back for piquet duty to Bragg's army, while their comrades in arms were permitted to go and hunt and whip the enemy. Evidences of dissatisfaction were perceptible in every company. Morgan had not been gone from Woodville, Tennessee, very long, before a caucus was secretly held inside the camping ground of the 9th, and the brave boys of that invincible regiment, many of them resolved to follow Morgan at all hazard; and the night following the caucus, a large number of the soldiers of that regiment left the camp with their faces turned toward Kentucky. They had not proceeded far before a halt was called, and an organization formed. Sargeant Frank Curl was made Colonel commanding, and dubbed "Colonel Conrood." Not many days afterwards most of the men received an order from Colonel Breckinridge to return, and if we remember correctly, "Colonel Conrood" went back with them; but we are also informed that he was never fully restored to the confidence of his old Colonel, notwithstanding the fact that he was among the worthiest of that regiment. From that day to this Frank Curl has borne the sobriquet of "Colonel Conrood," and we hail him now, with the rank which his comrades gave him on the memorable night of the organization.

On last Saturday evening our old friend and fellow-citizen, W. W. Cleary, Esq., arrived in Cynthiana, his first visit to his "old Kentucky home" since 1862. He went through a regular shaking of hands, after the old Kentucky fashion, not pump-handle style, but with that honest will which guarantees a hearty welcome. We give him a welcome:

"Home again, home again,
From a foreign shore,
And oh, it fills our hearts with joy,
To meet our friends once more."

MARRIED.

Auditor's Office, Ky.,
Frankfort, July 30, 1868.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original on file in this office. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official Seal, this day and year above written.

D. HOWARD SMITH, Auditor.

This is to certify, that T. Wherritt, & Co., as agent of the Piedmont Real Estate Insurance Co., of Montreal, Va., at Cynthiana, Harrison county, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "an act to regulate agencies of Foreign Insurance Companies," approved March 3, 1856, and it having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act; the said Thos. Wherritt, as agent aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of insurance, at his office in Cynthiana, for the term of one year from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that, since the filing of the above statement referred to, the available capital of said company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. In testimony whereof, I have set my hand and seal at Lexington, Va., this 1st day of July 1868.

THE GREAT UNITED STATES TEA WAREHOUSE

OF T. V. KELLY & CO.,

Nos. 26, 28 and 30, Vesey street, New York.

ROSS & HOUSTON AGENTS,

Nos. 3 and 5 Mound street, near Fifth, Cincinnati, Ohio

T. V. KELLY & CO. wish it especially understood that they guarantee all the Teas and Coffees sold (bearing their trade mark) by the above firm, pure and adulterated as imported by them. They are sold by them at the small advance of 5 cents a pound over our New York prices. This brings our goods at the prices for which they can be purchased over our counters, with the freight added.

PRICE LIST OF TEAS.

COFFEES ROASTED & GROUND DAILY.—Ground coffee 30c, 35c, best 40c per lb.
Hotels, Saloons, Boarding-House Keepers, and Families who use large quantities of Coffee, can economize in that article by using
OUR ROYAL CLUB COFFEE, which we shall sell at the low price of 35c. per pound, and warrant to give perfect satisfaction. We specially request our friends when they send us drafts, checks, or post office orders, to make them payable to the order of Ross & Houston

GETTING UP CLUBS.

Country clubs, hand and wagon peddlers and small stores can have their orders promptly and faithfully filled, and in case of clubs can have each party's name marked on their package and directed by sending their orders to Nos. 3 & 5 Mound street. Some parties inquire of us how they shall proceed to get up a club. The answer is simply this: Let each person say how much tea and coffee he wants, and select the kind and price from our price list, as published in the paper or in our circulars. Write the names, kinds and amount plainly on a list, and when the club is complete send it to us by mail, and we will put each party's goods in separate packages, and mark the name upon them, with the cost, so there need be no confusion in their distribution; each party getting exactly what he orders and no more. The cost of the transportation the members can divide equally among themselves. Parties sending clubs or other orders for less than $50 had better send post office drafts, or money with their orders, to save the expense of collecting by express; but larger orders we will forward by express to collect on delivery. Hereafter we will send a complimentary package to the party getting up the club. Our profits are small, but we will be as liberal as we can afford. We send no complimentary package for clubs of less than $50. We warrant all the goods we sell to give entire satisfaction. If they are not satisfactory they can be returned at our expense within 30 days, and have the money refunded. In addressing us by letter upon any subject, direct to

The Harrison County Court having been petitioned by a number of persons asking for the establishment of an additional precinct in this county, complaining of hardships and grievances under which they labor. For remedy whereof, and conformity with provisions of an act of the Legislature approved 7th March, 1868, it is adjudged by the court that a Justice District be established in this county, bounded as follows:

Beginning at the corner of Robertson creek, thence down Harrison creek to the river to the Runa Vista district, thence with a line of said district far enough to include Stephen Whalen and Richard Turner, thence to John Stewart's, thence to the new meeting house on the head of Daniels Lick, thence down Daniels Lick to main Harrison creek, thence down Harrison creek to the head below Samuel C. Rankins' house, thence to the Falmouth road at C. P. Price's, thence with the Falmouth road to the Fugh's Ferry road, thence with said road to the Worrell's mill road beyond Samuel Downard's, thence up said road to Worrell's School house, thence with Worrell's line to Jackson river, thence up said river to the Bracken line, thence with the Bracken line to the Robertson line, thence with the Robertson line to the beginning.

That said precinct be known as precinct No. 8, and called the Clayville precinct, and the house of Eliza Jackson, in Clayville, is fixed as the place of voting, and it is ordered that at the next August election a Justice of the Peace and a Constable be elected, and the Justice elected to hold his office until the next general election of justices of the peace and the constable elected to hold his office until the next general election of constables. That the name of the precinct No. 3 heretofore known as the Clayville precinct, be changed to the Richmond precinct, and the place of voting remain as heretofore, and be still No. 3, and at the next August election shall elect a Justice of the peace who shall hold his office until the next general election of justices of the peace.
